DESCRIPTION

The Block series of planters offers a comprehensive array of sizes that cater to every preference. These planters feature a deep steel body that is accentuated with wooden elements. You have the option to choose the type of steel and the variety of wood used in its construction. The Block planter boasts a universal and timeless design. It's both substantial and stylish, yet it seamlessly integrates with its environment. The spacing between the slats visually streamlines the steel structure. This model is versatile enough for indoor use, yet robust enough to enhance the greenery around residential complexes or office spaces.
